IMPERIAL COMPANY STILL AT WORK WITH STANDARD DRILL AT FABYAN; REPORT OF GEOLOGIST J. O. WILLIAMS ON WAINWRIGHT FIELD; EVERYTHING TENDS TO PROVE THE DISTRICT WILL BE POSSIBLE ELDORADO

"They're off!"—the famous blood thrilling cry of the race course, can be repeated with just as great a thrill with regard to the activities of the famous British Petroleums Limited in the Wainwright Oilfield. And, furthermore, they're off to a real good start. During the past week the whole of the big machinery, equipment, timbers, paraphernalia and what-not, requiring several flat and box cars for their transportation, have arrived here and all are now reposing on the site chosen upon by the powers that be after weighing up the many desireable locations in this territory indicative of oil production.

THE SITE

The site of the first big hole will be the spot known in land office parlance as the legal subdivision No. 1 on Sec. 36, Twp 45, Rge 7w4. This land is just six miles straight north of the Town of Wainwright and easy of access, lying right alongside of the government road.

During the past few days, Mr W. Hare has been working with his water-well drill, and at the time of writing he says that he is getting good indications of obtaining a more than ample supply of water for the requirements of the plant, which will be steam operated.

Mr Debaun—the familiar "Char lie of the southern oilfields—who is in full charge of operations, is working like a trojan with both brain and muscle to the end that the hugh timbers will very shortly rear themselves into a structure of some 115 -ft. in height as the derrick of the finest oil-drilling venture in the whole province and the big rotary drill, capable of putting down a hole twenty-two inches in diameter, is being put into the very best of shape, so that immediately after "spudding in" the whole affair shall proceed like clockwork (so far as is possible) in continuity until the precious fluid is struck. The company is prepared to drill to 5000 feet in depth if this is found to be necessary, although with oil at around the 2000ft. level in the Fabyan well it is thought highly probable that even a less depth will be required to "bring in" the first real Alberta gusher right here in the Wainwright field.

GEOLOGIST'S REPORT

The report of the well-known Alberta geologist, Mr John O. Williams, of Calgary, who spent many, many months in exploration work in this district, and who is now consulting geologist for the Wainwright Oil Development Co. as well as a director of that concern, is here appended and this shows that the British Patrolerm people have certainly entered what is now conceived to be possibly the finest oilfield in the whole province.

Introduction.

The district examined lies north of Fabyan and Wainwright on the main line of the Grand Trunk Pacific Railway running east from Edmonton, being some one hundred and ten miles east of said city.

The district is very conveniently situated at distances varying from half a mile to ten miles from the railway. The surrounding country consists of rolling prairies partially wooded and containing a number of alkaline lakes. The district is well settled with good main roads, telephones and is easy of access by the largest auto trucks.

The district is practically surrounded on the north, the west and the northeast by the Battle River and several large coulees and creeks emptying in said river give excellent exposures.

The river valley is narrower than usual and is more thickly wooded in this half circle formed by river. From mouth of Buffalo Coulee to Ribstone Creek the river is wider and sides of valley are from 200 to 300 ft. high with only a few outcrops of strata.

1.—The Strata.

The strata exposed in the district belong to Upper Cretaceous Age, being mainly Belly River Series of shales and sandstone. The most noticeable difference betweeen this eastern series from the southern series is the much greater preponderance of arcnaceous deposits with a proportional decrease of shale strata.

Small seams of coal have been found while sinking wells for water throughout the distrct giving excellent horizon markers. Many parts of the district are capped with a thickness of ten (10) feet or of boulder clay: a glacial clay containing boulders etc. from Rockey Mountains. This drift adds to the difficulty of finding good exposures of bed rock except in the coulees and sides of River Valley.

The Structure

The structure of this part of Alberta is a wide monicline, with terrace structures running in a direction North-West and South-East across the territory covered by this report.

This district has been overlooked as to its being petroliferous as I found several small gas expressions and one certain oil seepage. On visiting coulees along the Battle River and shores of Baxter Lake and at different point at low elevations I found a seam of nodular sandstone, with flagstones very thin. The balance of sandstone has soft sand and the total thickness is about 40 feet the lowest sandstone being about ten to fifteen inches thick, while the upper seam is from two to three feet thick.

The rocks at the Narrows have a dip of 13 ft to the S. E., and rise into a high ridge this ridge commences at Battle River near Myers coulee and is joined by one coming fromN. E. about twomiles from Battle River. It extends S. E. and forms broad arch for 14 miles, ening near Greenshield. Parallel ridges run at each side equal distance and of equal elevation (2510' above sea level).

The best exposures of rock are at short coulee in sec. 12-46-4-4; Sheepskin Flat, sec. 12-47-5-4; near the bridge on the Narrows on Baxter Lake, being sec. 30-45-5-4 and at a coulee on Henry Myres' farm on the N. W. of 36-46-6-4. The strike of these S. S. are N-10-E and are dipping S. W., at an angle of 16. Two dips are noticed in the same direction, one being 20 and 11. This rock is of Foxhill Age and is nodular, being very like the Grand Rapids sandstone on the Athabasca River, but much smaller in size.

These ridges are covered by a dark colored soil while the sides show lighter chocolate to a brown color. When this cover eroded off, the soft sandstone below weathers very easily to sand, causing sandy ridges at different points.

The elevations of these ridges are all about the same 2235' to 2245' and are hard to travel by car on account of being easily cut up. This sandstone is also some five feet below surface south of town on sec. 7-44-6 in newly dug well and is still some 10' thick, when a light gray sandy shale is entered.

There is a very well defined structure forming the central field and rocks rising from bed of lake and extending to about centre of the fold, dipping away to the west being covered at Wainwright some 10 to 20 feet.

On the East side of centre tidge are lower elevations the lowest being on the east side (elevation 2115'. This depression is for some 6 miles occupied by a deep lake the waters of which are strongly impregnated with carbonates of soda. On the shores of this lake is a very hard sintery-like fragmentary cinder which on examination I found to be composed of small grains of quartz cemented together by some dark tufaceous material. Very fine sand is also washed ashore and lake has hard sandy bottom.

No sign of any seepage was found in the Southern district. The presence of the seepage in the N. E., district, looks as if the big ridge was an anti-clinal fold and would no doubt be a sure gas territory with chance of petroleum at about 2150'. These parallel ridges belong to inner edge of a terrace formation, which has its outer edges at Viking, Iron Creek and Birch Lake; whilst the second central terrace flats occur in a line—Hardisty, Irma, Minburn.

The rock structure inland from Battle River between Buffalo coulee and Grizzly Bear, south and east, bear out this monicline theory. It is of arrested anti-clinal form the crest being followed for some 12 miles along the strike, while its breadth is about 5 miles This arrested anticlinal can be placed as being a portion of a largefold the width of which is approximately 18 miles and is composed of the parellel ridges mentioned above. The Foxhill S. S. outcrops at each side., the river making a large detour to the north and around this structure, the western side being in section 36-45-7-4(A) the eastern side in sec. 12-46-4 in sec. 26-47-5-4 near where Grizzly Bear enters the Battle River and where the river cuts through the Pierre Shales, allowing the river to cut a channel in a southerly course to where (in sec. 12-46-4-4) the Foxhill S. S. again turns the river easterly.

Up to date no oil has been except at Viking in either of these terraces they proving to be heavily impregnated water sands (salt water), with gas in large quantities, on their crests and light shows of oil at different depths—the inner edges of and the oil bearing terrace has a line—Monitor, Wainwright, Vermillion being on the east side of the great monicline.

In the Section in Coulee on sec. 36-45- 7-4 water erosions have bared the Pierre Shales, lying conformably on the soft S. S. (East side of section about middle North and South). This section is as follows:

Paskapoo—boulders clays	15ft
Dark grey (Iron nodules)' Shales.	75ft.
Soft sand - yellow - very friable	40ft
Nodular S.S. upper	4ft
Thin flag S. S. lower	3ft
Light grey shales	45ft
Brown clay shales	25ft
Light grey shales- bottom	18ft
School elevation	2300ft
Top of bank	2249ft
River level	2024ft

Section on Sec. N. W. ¼ 36-46-6, w4th., in Myers' Coulee, head of same

Elevation- top	2300ft
Paskapoo- boulder clay	25ft
Unconformity
Dark shales & iron nodules	82ft
Chocolate colored clays br.	18ft
Soft sand- yellow- very friable	55ft.
Nodular S. S.	2½ft
Flagstone, very thin	1½ft
Uncovered to bottom	10ft
Elevation- Bottom coulee,	2104ft

The Lee Park formation does not outcrop but in wells drilled for water near Baxter Lake I have seen the grey marine shale that came from deep wells along the west side of section 25-45-6-4.

A difference of 410 feet in the elevation above sea level was found between the shore of Baxter Lake and high ridge which lays immediately west of lake, about three quarters of a mile away. This height of land is caused by a hard rib of rock (Birch Lake Sandstone) not being eroded off by glacial action. This ridge first shows itself north-east of Fabyan and is in evidence right across to the lake. The Sandstone is not seen across these lands nor does it outcrop, except in valley sides and coulees, but is there O. K.

Wherever this high ridge is crossed by a road the soft yellow sand is in evidence but on reaching the lower elevations in every case the sand have disappeared and clay shales outcrop. Thissandstone is about fifty feet thick and underneath lays the shale formatio (Grizzly Bear) which is about one hundred and eighty five feet thick. Then another sandstone occurs beneath but it is a harder variety with softer streak of some thickness intervening also some layers of grey earbonaceous shales, then grey sandston and thin seams of coal (section4-45-6-4. Elevation at this well 2245 feet above sea level.

From a deep well on section 25-45-6-4 at a depth of three hundred and sixty feet typical blue grey shales came up in baler containing pieces of crystal of selenite, and small pieces of nodules of ironstone. Several broken pieces of fossil were also sten- Baculites-Inoceramus and a species of Ammonite (?), denoting a marine shale likely of Pierre Age. Elevation at this well 2368ft, above sea level.

IMPERIAL STILL DRILLING

From reports to hand it is now shown that the Imperial company are still drilling at their deep hole at Fabyan, using a standard rig. That hole is believed to be well down in the limestone formation, and it is not beyond a possibility that this well may come in with a lighter oil than was at first struck at a higher level. This drilling as is the case with British Petroleum location is about six miles from town and this fact places the town of Wainwright as the logical center of all activities of these—and any other—companies on whom we wish the hope of absolute success at the earliest possible moment.

WEDDING BELLS

GEROW—MARTIN

On Wednesday evening, October 4th, a quiet but pretty wedding was solemnized at the home of Mr. and Mrs. G. Law, 11937 88th street, when their daughter Mrs. Louise Ellen Martin, was united in marriage to Mr. John Lawson Gerow of Wainwright. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Thomas Murphy of Jasper and the bride was given in marriage by her father. Miss Bronwen Jones attended as bridesmaid and Mr. Thomas Law, brother of the bride, acted as best man.

The bride wore a becoming costume of beaver brown velour, handsomely braided, a daint blouse of shell pink georgette, and hat of sand colored panne velvet trimmed with large cocoa brown rosettes. She carried a shower bouquet of sweetheart roses, and her only ornament was a necklace of pearls the gift of the bridegroom.

The bridesmaid was gowned in taffeta with touches of orange and orange hat to match. Her corsage was of marigolds and fern. Mrs. Law, mother of the bride, wore a gown of black charmense satin trimmed with Spanish lace and jet embroidery.

The wedding march was played by Miss Bessie Stone and during the signing of the register, "Because" was sung by Mr Gomer Jones.

The rooms were beautifully decoroted with autumn foliage and asters and the bride's cake surrounded by small vases of mauve asters centre the tea table Mrs. Gomer Jones and Mrs Stone poured tea and Mrs. R. Dittings served the ices. Mrs. Fred Wood and the Misses Bronwen Jones and Bessie Stone assisted.

The bridegroom's gifts to the bridesmaid and pianist were gold bangles, and to the best man gold cuff links.

METHODISTS TAKE ONE STEP NEARER TO CHURCH UNION

The draft act of incorporation of the United Church of Canada has been approved by the Church union committee of the Methodist general conference now in session here. There was practically no objection to the principles laid down in the draft act. Three or four small amendments dealing with minor points were the only changes suggested.

This actionhas the effect of bringing the Methodist church in Canada one step eloser to final sanction of the legislative basis to the proposed union between the Presbyterian, Methodist and Congregational bodies.

FORD COMPANY ANNOUNCE A BIG PRICE REDUCTION

Announcement has just been made by the Ford Motor Company of Canada, Limited, that a still further reduction in the prices of Ford Cars and Trucks has been made, the price change effective as of September 26th.

These new prices are the lowest in the history of the Ford Motor Company. The new prices of $495 for the Ford Touring Car and $455 for the Runabout represents a $40 reduction from the present price of each of these models. There is a $60 reduction from the present price of both the Coupe and the Sedan, $30 reduction on the Truck and $50 on the passenger car chassis. The present price of the Ford Touring Car is a reduction of 33 percent from the peak price of 1920, when shortage of materials, etc., rendered higher prices on Ford cars imperative.

This announcement has great significance because it marks a new valuation record for automotive products. Ford products are now selling at the lowest prices in history.

Of the several factors which induced this situation the improvement in exchange has been of greatest importance. Ford of Canada purchases large quantities of raw material in the United States which are used in Canada in manufacturing the Ford Car, and which cannot be purchased in Canada. The return of the Canadian dollar to par now permits of the purchase of such raw material on a more advantageous basis.

Anticipating that the Canadian dollar will now remain at normal Ford of Canada has established the present schedule of prices.

It is hoped by this reduction in price to speed up production and lower manufacturing costs which must be done in order to effect the additional economies needed to justify these record-breaking low prices.

In putting this plan into effect, Ford of Canada is following its established policy of passing on to the public any savings effected in the manufacture of Ford products, thus placing Ford Cars and Trucks within the reach of the greatest number of people.

A comparison of Ford prices with the prices paid for other staple commodities shows that Ford has effected the greatest prices were at the peak—Building materials (approximately) 12.3 per cent lower, animals and meat approximately 24 per cent lowwer, house furnishings approximately 16.7 per cent lower, fuel and lighting approximately 14.3 per cent higher, and Ford Touring Car 33.3 per cent lower.

Messrs Stuart and Church have this week practically wound up the cattle shipments from this district for the season. They shipped last week 260 head of choice stock to Winnipeg and Toronto and got pretty good prices for their stuff, too!

In accordance with the provincial fire-prevention week campaign, the town fire-fighting apparatus was put under test last week end and found to be O.k.

MUNICIPAL HOSPITAL GIVES RECORD SERVICE

Returns coming to the minister of health from the Vermilion municipal hospital set a new record for administration and service This institution is an 18-bed hospital and last month their returns showed 804 hospital beds. The cost per day was $2.03 and this included maintenance, operating and one-twelfth of the repayment of the capital charges charged to the month's expenses.

FAVORABLE DEBENTURE SALE.

What is regarded as a very good sale of Alberta Government bonds was made this week, when $3,000,000 debentures were sold to the National City Company of New York and Montreal, at 97. 334. The proceeds of this sale will used for refunding purposes and the sale indicates that Alberta's financial position stands high. Eight bidders submitted prices, showing a strong demand for our provincial securities.

J. R. LOVE, M.L.A. ADDRESSES MTG. U.F.A. & U.F.W.A.

A large number of members and non-members gathered to hear Mr. J. Russell Love, M. L. A. address the regular meeting of the Wainwright locals U. F. A. and U. F. W. A. on Saturday.

Mr A. E. Hill, the president took charge of the meeting and after routine business had been dispensed with, Mr Love, who was present by invitation took the floor and stated his position with regard to the controversy that has arisen over the special sessional indemnity of July last.

At the close of his remarks the speaker intimated that he would endeavor to answer any question regarding this subject, and the meeting availed itself to the full of the opportunity.

Questions came thick and fast for a time, and these were all answered to the satisfaction of the enquirers. Finally a vote of confidence in the Alberta government and the local member was passed, unanimously.

The following resolution was put to the meeting and carried: "That where several locals have requested that the members of the legislative assembly of this province be asked to return the whole or part of the last sessional indemnity of $2500.00. Be it resolved that no member of the legislative assembly shall return either the whole or any portion of the aforesaid sessional indemnity, and that we recommend that the remuneration of the members of the legislature shall be placed upon a yearly basis."

At the close of the meeting refreshments were served by the ladies of the U. F. W. A.

HARVEST SERVICES ST. THOMAS' CHURCH ON SUNDAY LAST

These beautiful services of the church of England ritual were held in St Thomas church last Sunday, the congregations being very good, particularly at night when the sacred building was quite full.

The decorations were much admired— full of taste and most artistic— and in keeping both with the building and the occasion The singing of the well-known harvest hymns was hearty and responsive, and the whole services of the day seemed to be endowed with high spiritual tone which brings one into closer touch with Almighty God—the Great Giver of all.

ARTHUR APPLIN

There was a peculiar and undefinable something in Lion's eyes when he was roused; something not quite human; spiritual, perhaps, but at the same time terrible.

Spiritual and terrible, because in his eyes—those who themselves had eyes to see—recognised the unconquerable soul of man.

Lion was hardly conscious of his surroundings now. His defence was automatic, his attack changed completely. It was swift, subtle, at moments fierce—and to the Frenchman disconcerting, because unexpected.

But Lion was really waiting, waiting patiently, guided by his sub-conscious self. He was fighting for the opening—an opening that he had learnt by experience always came if only he held on long enough.

It came now just at the end of the two minutes, after some really fast and pretty work. . . . Like lightning left shot out. He was unconscious of a thrill when he knew he had got home. The Frenchman reeled and only saved himself from falling by clutching the ropes. Lion had him at his mercy then, but as he jumped forward he remembered, stopped himself and stepped back.

The Frenchman stood up and stared at him in amazement.

O'Flahertie ordered them to their corners. Lion was conscious of the hum of voices as he sat down. He was glad of a breather now, though he still felt comparatively fresh when the fourth bout started. He had heard O'Flahertie soundly rating the Frenchman as if he considered Pomard had been caught napping.

"You got a lucky one in then," was all he said to Lion.

The latter accepted the criticism. He knew that Pomard would be on his guard now, he also argued that the Frenchman would not expect him to use the same methods immediately; he rushed in as if intent now on going for the body. He took a right and left from the Frenchman; and then as he feinted Lion again got it with his left. This time Pomard went down, but he was on his feet again in a second and after Lion like a streak of lightning.

The one thing that no one had ever succeeded in doing was to "rattle" Lion. He had learnt a few of the Frenchman's strong and weak points. He retreated, remaining on the defensive, then gave an obvious opening and took a fierce upper-cut which seemed to stagger him for a second, but as the Frenchman rushed in, he straightened his left and stopped him.

It was the end of the fourth round and O'Flahertie, putting his hand on his shoulder, told him to change and take a rest.

After a bath Lion would have given anything for a smoke, but he resisted the temptation and watched the Frenchman at work with another of his sparring partners. O'Flahertie disappeared and he did not see him again until the following day.

"Look here, Petera," he said, "are you prepared to go into this game seriously?"

Lion shook his head. "I don't think so. There's only one game I'm going in for seriously and you know what that is."

"Oh, that girl," the Irishman said contemptuously. "They've packed off to New York. She'll stop there until the big fight's over and the dook takes her back to England.

"Thanks," Lion said. "It was decent of you to find out."

The Irishman grunted. "Say, would you rather marry a dook's daughter or be the heavy-weight champion of the world?—not that there's much chance of your doing either."

"Then why ask me?"

O'Flahertie stuck out his aggressive Irish chin. "Because there is a chance! I'm a man who has made my fortune by taking chances. And I'm willing to take a chance on you. And so's the dook."

Lion jumped to his feet. "You haven't told him—"

"Now don't get bothered. I told him I'd got an English lad who, when licked into shape, might be just as good as Pierre Pomard. I tell you he was for getting into his automobile and coming straight down here. I told him he would be carrying lead in the kick pocket of his breeches instead of gold if he put his nose inside this camp."

O'Flahertie began to laugh. "The tale I pitched him about you, well I knew I was a good liar, but I beat my own record."

Lion smiled. "I'm sorry to disappoint you but I've no intention of adopting fighting as my profession."

"I thought you wanted the girl."

"Athelbar would be likely to give his daughter to a prize fighter, wouldn't he?" Lion sneered.

"I think a prize fighter would be likely to take her, Mr. Peters. What I don't know about men you could write on a visiting card and what I don't know about women's not worth knowing. I ain't been running a beauty chorus of two hundred pairs of glad eyes for nothing. Say, can't you hear the world rocking with laughter when an amateur boxer from England beats the heavy-weight champion of the world from the U.S.A. You ain't got no imagination. Unless you've been kidding me about what you've done in the past, then if in nine months I can't lick you into a champion—I'll eat my own beauty chorus."

Lion began to wonder whether O'Flahertie was insane or intoxicated. "You mean to say you really think I could lick Pomard?"

"You licked him yesterday!"

"He wasn't trying."

"He was trying harder than you. But I'm thinking it won't be Pomard you'll be fighting, but Shouter. He's some champion I'll admit; but you've got some brains and he hasn't. And it's brains that count. Now look here, I can get you backers—we can stage the fight in England perhaps. You'll be a dark horse, no one will know anything about you, least of all the dook—"

"I'm afraid there's nothing doing."

"And at the last moment," O'Flahertie continued, "when the stakes are deposited and the dook's got his money on, you can have the satisfaction of going to him and telling him you're not fighting for his cash but for his daughter, and that if he don't agree to handing her over to you if you win the championship—then there won't be no fight."

Lion shook his head. "And where would you and the others come in, Mr. O'Flahertie?"

The Irishman sighed and looked at Lion almost pathetically. "I said you had got brains, but you don't seem to have used them in getting to the bottom of your future father-in-law. Do you think he would refuse? What's his reputation? Do you think he could afford to refuse and become the laughing stock of the world for letting his man sneak out of the fight? My boy, you've got him stone cold. If you've got scruples you needn't touch the cash. You're fighting for the honour of your country, an amateur. Why, it would be the biggest thing that's ever been staged in this world. Afterwards you and your Lady Daphne can feature in the cinema and make a million dollars out of every film that's shown you."

Lion sighed. O'Flahertie was evidently a man who would not take no for an answer. I'll think it over," he said.

O'Flahertie nodded. "But you won't be thinking after nine o'clock tomorrow morning. You're the first man who has ever been offered the earth, and everything in it. who has had the impudence to say he would think it over. And take it from me that if you don't accept you can get out of this right away, and you can walk to New York. When you get there take it from me that you'll receive a polite invitation to spend the next year or two in a very pleasant private hotel called the Tombs Prison—unless I suggest to the dook that San Francisco isn't so very healthy and would suit you better. By the way," he said, as he turned on his heel to go, "you remember the fellow you tripped up and knocked into the harbour? Well, they said an inquest on him yesterday. It cost me another thousand dollars to square 'em! Supposing it was your body they had held an inquest on? I guess Athelbar would not have considered four thousand dollars too much to pay for—'Found Drowned.' Think it over, Peters."

CHAPTER XXIII.

Lion did not take O'Flahertie's suggestion very seriously. But he slept on it. When he awoke next morning he began to see things from a different angle. No one in San Francisco could look at life from the same point of view as they would look at it from London, say. There was, of course, still only one object in Lion's life—to find the woman he loved, his wife.

The methods he employed had, so far, failed. Probably he had acted too impulsively. Athelbar and his advisers had outwitted him. But he could not help wondering if they would have been able to do so without Daphne's consent . . . or had they fooled her too?

After a sprint round the camp accompanied by the Frenchman, a bath and breakfast, he found an opportunity of talking to Pierre Pomard. The latter was obviously keen to learn Lion's history, wanting to know in what part of the world he had fought and who had been his opponents. Nothing could persuade him that Lion was an amateur.

This gave Edward food for reflection. He knew the Frenchman was neither flattering nor fooling him, and he came to the conclusion that either Pierre did not stand an earthly chance with Bluff Shouter or else that O'Flahertie's suggestion that he, Lion, should challenge the winner was not quite so ridiculous as he had at first imagined.

When O'Flahertie arrived at the camp that morning he called Lion into his private room and told him to sit down.

"Have you seen the San Francisco Herald this morning?" he asked.

Lion shook his head. O'Flahertie took a copy from his pocket and handed it to him. At the bottom of the third column on the front page he read in bold, black type:

"Found Drowned."

"Supposed suicide of Englishman in harbour."

When followed a description of himself, together with his name, Edward Lion. No mention was made of the s.s. Frista, however.

"What the devil does this mean?" Lion asked furiously.

O'Flahertie chuckled and rubbed his great hands together. "That cost me another thousand dollars—but you'll discover I don't mind spending money when I see a chance of getting a good return for it. The newspaper you're reading is my property, but you'll find

Concerning a Terror Inspiring Moth

HAVE you ever seen a human skull? It is not, I admit, an attractive thing to look at, or even a cheerful thing, but I am going to tell you about a lovely little creature that even though it has a very clearly drawn likeness of a skull decorating the top of its soft velvety body is perfectly gay, happy and beautiful, and all that in spite of its being The Death's Head Hawk Moth.

I know a little boy who was sitting up quite late one night studying his history lesson, as he wanted to be the best in his class for the examination. It was late spring when exciting things such as examinations occur in school. It also was quite a warm evening, so that the windows were open and the boy was grateful for the breeze that blew in from the garden.

Suddenly something else blew, or, I should say, flew, in with such a loud whirring of wings that the boy was startled. He jumped up, with no thought for his history, but quite intent on what he at first thought was a bat, for it was bumping itself now here, now there against the ceiling and walls. Finally it was caught, and the boy was so amazed and delighted that, very gently holding it in his careful hands, he ran to show it to his family.

It was a Death's Head Hawk Moth, but they didn't know that. To them it was merely a terrible thing, for wasnt there a distinct skull outlined atop it?

The little boy's old aunt burst into tears, his mother seemed anxious and even his father, who as a rule was a most sensible person, looked slightly uncomfortable, while the aunt between loud sobs wailed that it was an awful sign of misfortune—of death. She was all for killing it, but the boy ran back to his room and carefully let the Moth out of the open window back into the velvet black of the night. Instead then of directly returning to his history, he first opened another book, one about Moths and Butterflies. After searching through the innumerable pages he found an exact copy of his little winged visitor. Having read all about it, he returned to his history.

But no misfortune fell on the boy or on his frightened family. On the contrary, they were very happy, and particularly so was the boy on account of his experience. Every evening he hoped his Hawk Moth friend would again flutter through the window toward his light, but as this Moth is quite rare it never returned. Others came, however—ever so many others—of all colors, shapes and sizes, and the boy always looked them up in his book and learned all about them before releasing them back to the darkness. This boy later became a great naturalist; just because a wonderfully tinted Moth flew to him one evening with its message of wild sweetness.

* * * * * * *

The Hawk Moth or Sphnx family is a very large one of which there are many different kinds, the best known of which are the Poplar Hawk Moth, the Privet Hawk Moth, the big and little Elephant Hawk Moths, the Humming Bird Hawk Moths, and, last and largest, the Death's Head. This one is seldom seen and only flies at night. It is protected during daylight by cleverly choosing a resting place that is like its own coloring. If disturbed it has the unmothly gift of squeaking an angry protest. The young of this Moth, when full grown and just before spinning their cocoons, are large, five-inch long Caterpillars. They are lemon green, with seven swerving purple yellow stripes on either side. They fed mostly on potato plants and dig several inches down into the soil when they intend spinning the cocoon, where they remain for several months before returning to the world as Moths.

Headaches Gone

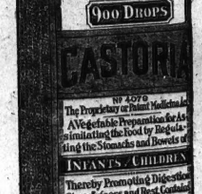

Perhaps you can imagine what this means to one who had suffered terribly with headaches for ten years,

Read about it in this latter.

Mrs. Tena A. Smith, Country Harbor Cross Roads, N. S., writes:

"I feel that if anyone can recommend Dr. Chase's medicines I certainly can. I suffered for ten years from severe headaches, and although I took all kinds of headache powders they just relieved me at the time. I became very nervous and run-down, and everything seemed to trouble me. I have taken eighteen boxes of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food and it has made an entirely new person of me. I felt that I could not have lived without it. I do not have one headache now for every hundred I used to have, and my nerves are good and strong. I just weighed 109 pounds when I began using Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, and now I weigh 121. Knowing what this treatment has done for me, I cannot too highly recommend it to others."

Livestock Receipts At The Leading Markets

Heavy Increase Shown In Western Shipments of Livestock

According to the Dominion Livestock Branch weekly report, some of the principal livestock markets of the Dominion show considerable decreases in cattle receipts from the first of the year to early in September, as compared with the receipts during the same period of last year. The important yards at St. Boniface, Manitoba, however, is reported as showing heavy increases, the numbers marketed during the present year to date as compared with last year being greater by 17,000 head, when compared with offerings of the same period of 1921. The increases in cattle marketings in the western provinces are duplicated by the calf, sheep and hog marketings and more than offset any decreases in marketings in the eastern provinces. The result is that the combined receipts at all yards in the Dominion are in every class in excess of those of the same period of last year. The Toronto and Montreal markets are behind in cattle receipts, Montreal is off in calves and Toronto in sheep, but the combined receipts to September 7th at Toronto, Montreal, Winnipeg, Calgary and Edmonton, as compared with the receipts of the same period last year are: 451,597 cattle, against 377,620; 156,476 calves, against 138,200; 510,963 hogs, against 403,777; and 253,467 sheep, against 239,461.

Top prices on September 14th show as 25c to 75c per hundredweight lower on cattle than on the same date of 1921, excepting at Calgary where the market appeared to be 25c stronger. Calves showed a relatively sharp decline. Hogs were higher at Toronto and Montreal but lower at Winnipeg, Calgary and Edmonton. The prices on choice sheep and lambs were higher at all markets excepting Winnipeg, where the quotations for lambs were on a somewhat weak basis.

Discoverer of Radium Needs Assistants

Staff Has Been Reduced by Economy Of Government

Mme. Curie is reported to be hard hit by the wave of economy that has struck the French Government. The abolishment of 50,000 Government positions does not leave her famous radium laboratory unscathed. One of the most serious obstacles the discoverer of radium has always faced was the shortage of qualified assistants. It is now urged in the interests of science that some philanthropist of science forward the few hundred dollars needed annually to keep Mme. Curie's staff at even its present inadequate proportions.

An Automatic Car Detective

New Invention Will Make Robbery a Difficult Matter

The robbing of motor cars has greatly increased of late. Sometimes the whole car is taken, and sometimes a rug, bag, or some other object in the car, is removed while it stands waiting.

These thefts have been particularly difficult to detect, but a new invention which has just been perfected and approved by the police authorities will make it difficult for the robber to escape.

An automatic detective is attached to the car—it may be placed in any part—and when it is set the slightest shaking or movement of the car will start a loud, long-range, electric hooter.

The authorities in places where the automatic detective is at work have agreed to give instruction that any motor car sounding this note will be stopped.

When the owner, after making a call, returns to his car he touches a switch which renders the detective inoperative and quite unaffected by any movement. But when he leaves his care he turns on the switch by means of a kind of Yale key, which he takes away with him.

It is a splendid idea, and there will certainly be some excitement when the first of these "Stop, Thief!" sirens sounds.

Refuses a Pension

Lord Strathclyde Voluntarily Relinquishes Assured Income of 3,750 Pounds

Lord Strathclyde has astonished the official world by voluntarily relinquishing the pension of £3,750 a year that was granted him seven years ago when he retired from the office of Lord Advocate for Scotland, where he was getting £5,000 a year.

He is 69 years old and declares his reason for giving up the pension is that he is unable, owing to weak health, to take part in the judicial work of the House of Lords. That has only increased the surprise his action has occasioned. Such an exhibition of public spirit is rare indeed.

The British Government makes generous provision for the future welfare of its best-paid office-holders when they join the ranks of those who have retired. The speaker of the House of Commons has a salary of £5,000 a year; he may retire whenever he wants to and enjoy a life pension of £4,000 a year. The Lord Chancellor, who fills a role in the House of Lords analagous to the speaker of the House of Commons, receives a salary of £10,000 a year and retired pay of £5,000.

Honey Production in Manitoba

Within the past two years Manitoba has developed practically a new industry in beekeeping, which this year will bring to the province a revenue of $400,000, according to the provincial apiarist Floyd. Next year, declares this official, if the present development continues, this figure will be doubled. Approximately 1,000 beekeepers in Manitoba have produced 2,000,000 pounds of honey this year.

Decrease in Debt of Dominion

A further decrease in the net debt of Canada amounting to almost five million dollars, is shown in the statement for August issued by the Finance Department. The net debt August 31 was $2,387,676,265, as compared with $2,392,542,628, at the end of July.

How Indians Harvest Grain

Wild Rice Used By Indians of North America

Mah-Nob-Min, the wild rice of the north, the Indian's grain for winter consumption, is gathered today as it was in the days of Hiawatha and Minnehaha. Canoes are piloted through miles of rice beds. The rice is either snipped off on the stem or pulled from the water. Taken into the canoe, it is dislodged from the stem by beating with a paddle. The hulling is done by heating the rice in its shell, and while it is yet hot it is treaded by moccasined feet.

Wild rice is a tall aquati perennial grass of North America and of Asia. Its grain or seed has been used by the Indians for food since time out of memory.

The work of gathering the rice is so tedious that few white people attempt it.

Children Cry For Fletcher's CASTORIA

Special Care of Baby.

That Baby should have a bed of its own all are agreed. Yet it is more reasonable for an infant to sleep with grown-ups than to use a man's medicine in an attempt to regulate the delicate organism of that same infant. Either practice is to be shunned. Neither would be tolerated by specialists in children's diseases.

Your Physician will tell you that Baby's medicine must be prepared with even greater care than Baby's food.

A Baby's stomach when in good health is too often disarranged by improper food. Could you for a moment, then, think of giving to your ailing child anything but a medicine especially prepared for Infants and Children? Don't be deceived.

Make a mental note of this:—It is important, Mothers, that you should remember that to function well, the digestive organs of your Baby must receive special care. No Baby is so abnormal that the desired results may be had from the use of medicines primarily prepared for grown-ups.

Trusting to Luck

Reports Show Motorists Are Careless at Grade Crossings

Railroad companies of the United States made observations at 300 unprotected grade crossing on July 15 and 16. There were more than 300,000 automobiles passed over these crossings and the observers reported that 156,607 drivers failed to look in either direction. Most of them, however, slowed down to less than twenty miles, a proportion, looked in one direction, but not in the other, and a few, a very few, stopped before crossing the tracks. There are still many motorists who trust to luck.

A MOTHER'S DUTY TO HER DAUGHTER

Health Must be Guarded as She Comes to Womanhood

Every mother who calls to mind her own girlhood knows how urgently her daughter is likely to need health and strength during the years between early school days and womanhood. It is then that growing girls droop and become bloodless and nervous. Nature is calling for more nourishment than the blood can supply, and signs of distress are plainly evident in dull eyes, pallid cheeks, weak and aching backs and a dislike for proper food. These signs mean that the blood is weak and watery. The watchful mother takes prompt steps to give her girl the new, rich blood her system calls for by giving her Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. No other medicine has ever succeeded like them and thousands of mothers have proved their worth. Mrs. W. H. McIntyre, Gananoque, Ont., tells what these pills have done for both herself and her daughters. She says:—"I have used Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for many years, especially in times of weakness and general debility, and have found them a most satisfactory medicine. After a severe attack of influenza I found myself in a nervous condition and resorted to my old tonic—Pink Pills—and they did not fail me. I also gave them to my eldest daughter, who was in a serious condition due to ailments of girls of her age. She complained of headaches and backaches, and would often grow hysterical. She began taking the pills and was soon on the road to health again. She never complains now of headaches or backaches, and I give the credit to Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. Whenever I see any of my children ailing or in need of a blood tonic, I give them these pills and always with the best results."

You can get these pills through any dealer in medicine or by mail at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50 from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

Refined Weighing Machine

A new laboratory weighing machine can accurately weigh one-600,000,000th part of a single grain. Such refined weighing has to be done in a vacuum, and the instrument is mounted in a container from which the air can be exhausted before the work begins. The actual weighing is done by measuring the vibrations of the balance, by means of a spotlight thrown upon a scale, which shows the actual movements of the balance enormously magnified.

Inter-Allied Debts

Situation After the Napoleonic Wars Is Recalled

The September monthly review of the London City and Midland Bank recalls the financial relations of Great Britain and her Continental allies during and after the Napoleonic wars, the purpose of the discussion being to draw analogies or contrasts with the present status of inter-allied indebtedness. The Review shows that between the years 1793 and 1816, Great Britain advanced a total of £58,000,000 to her various allies, of which individually the most important was Austria, to whom advances amounting to over £12,000,000, were made. Of the total advances made by Great Britain, £58,000,000, direct subsidies accounted for about £50,000,000, which was not expected or intended to be repaid.

In 1817, however, the total due in respect of the Austrian loans of 1795 and 1797 reached nearly 19½ millions, and a convention was finally reached in 1823, by which Austria agreed to pay 2½ millions in satisfaction of the whole of the British claims upon the Austrian Emperor under the head of the Austrian loan, and each country reciprocally released claims on the other. As the debt by that time must have been well over £20,000,000, the extent of the remission, according to the Review, probably amounted to over 90 per cent. of the debt. Austria met her liability under this convention by borrowing the agreed amount from London bankers. The Review further recalls that at the end end of the Napoleonic wars, although the English debt was nearly £900,000,000, or four times as much as that of France, it was agreed that France should pay equivalent of only £28,000,000 as an indemnity, and England duly received her share, amounting to £5,000,000.

Birds Keep Below Clouds

Hard for Them to Breathe in Very High Altitudes

Though some astronomers have on unusually clear nights seen birds crossing between their telescopes and the moons disk, and have estimated their elevation as high as two miles, it is unusual for birds to migrate at altitudes greater than 5,000 feet, as a rule. They tend to keep below forest clouds. This is desirous because the higher they go the colder it gets and the harder it is for them to breathe. Aviators report having encountered birds above the 5,000-foot altitude.

High-flying birds are geese, cranes, rooks and lapwings. Low-fliers are swallows and other common varieties. When weather is bad, especially when it is cloudy, all birds fly low.

Retort of Marshal Foch

Makes Witty Reply to Statement of American at Denver Party

While on his recent American trip, Marshal Foch, the famous French soldier, made a witty reply to a man who, when one of the guests at a dinner party in Denver, given by a party of Americans, took exception to French politeness.

"There is nothing in it but wind," he said with questionable taste.

"Neither is there anything but wind in a pneumatic tire," retorted the gallant marshal, "yet it eases the jolts along life's highway wonderfully."

And for the rest of the dinner the other man had little to say.

Husband and Wife Nearly Dead With CHOLERA

The chief symptoms of cholera are vomiting, and purgings occur either simultaneously or alternately, and are usually sudden and very violent, and the matter ejected from the stomach has a bilious appearance and a nasty bitter taste.

On the first symptoms appearing, Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry should be taken, and the trouble checked before it becomes serious.

Mrs. Isaac Smith, Campbellton, N.B., writes:—"We have been using Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry for cholera. My husband and I were pretty nearly dead with it until we started to use your medicine, and thanks to it, we have found great relief, and are recommending it to all our friends."

77 years' reputation stands behind "Dr. Fowler's," therefore you are not experimenting with some new and untried remedy when you get it.

SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

LESSON FOR OCTOBER 15

THE MINISTRY OF JOHN THE BAPTIST

I. The Degeneracy of the Times (vv. 1, 2).

The Jews had sunk to a very low level of civil, moral and religious life. Luke carefully enumerates the civil and religious rulers in order to show the profligacy of the times, and therefore the need of a messenger to call the people back to God and virtue. Herod, the son of the Great, was a murderer. Annas and Caiaphas were corrupt ecclesiastical rulers.

II. The Nature of John's Ministry (vv. 3-6).

In the wilderness he underwent a discipline which fitted him for his task. Out of the wilderness he flashed forth preaching the baptism of repentance for the remission of sins (v. 3). This ministry is declared to be a fulfilment of Isaiah's prophecy. The message was described as one calling upon the nation to prepare for the coming of the Messiah. This preparation was presented under the figure of a monarch of the East about to make a journey. A servant was sent before to prepare the highway. Valleys needed to be filled, mountains and hills needed to be lowered, crooked places needed to be made straight and rough places needed to be made smooth. Today before the nations will receive Christ the valleys need to be filled with righteous deeds, the exceeding high mountains of sin and iniquity need to be brought low, the crooked dealings of the business world must be straightened out, and the rough ways of nations and individuals must be smoothed out. Men must repent of their sins before they can receive Christ.

III. The Content of John's Message (vv. 7-18).

1. Denunciation of Sin (vv. 7, 8). He called them "a generation of vipers." This shows that he charged them with deceitfulness and wickedness. Knowing the subtle hypocrisy of these Jews, he demanded evidence of their sincerity—the genuineness of their repentance was to be demonstrated by their works.

2. Announcement of Judgment (v. 9). He declared that the axe was laid at the root of the tree and that the tree not bringing forth fruit was to be hewn down and cast into the fire. John made is very plain that for their sins they should be called into judgment. Paul's preaching of a judgment to come made Felix tremble (Acts 24:25).

3. Instructions to the Inquirers (vv. 10-14). (1) The people (vv. 10, 11). Each man was to turn from his besetting sin and show love and kindness to his fellow men. Clothing and food were to be given those who had need. they were to turn from a life of selfishness and greed and do unto others as they would be done by. (2) Publicans (vv. 12, 13). These tax-gatherers who were guilty of greed and oppression were not asked to give up their occupation, but to exact only that which was appointed by law. (3) The soldiers (v. 14). These were likely the policeman of that day—at least men on military duty. He told them to extort money from no man, to accuse none falsely, and to be content with their wages. To all these classes he made it clear that they should henceforth perform their duty from a motive of love instead of selfishness and greed.

4. Testimony to Jesus (vv. 15-18). The people were musing in their hearts as to whether John was indeed the Messiah. When John perceived this he with fine humility declared that his mission was so lowly in comparison with Christ's that he would be unworthy to perform the mental act of a slave in loosing the latchet of His shoes. John baptized with water, but Christ, he declared, would baptize with the Holy Ghost and with fire.

IV. John's Imprisonment (vv. 19, 20).

Because of his reproof of Herod for his wicked lewdness and other sins John went to the dungeon. The preacher of righteousness must become a martyr. God's faithful prophets are usually despised by the world, even cast into prison, burned or beheaded.

Weston the Walker

Edward Payson Weston, the famous walker, takes a hike between Buffalo and New York. He moves fast and the trip doesn't fatigue him, though he is 84, at which age most old men have to use a cane to totter to the front porch.

Weston's vitality in advanced years illustrates the lasting benefits of sensible living and plenty of exercise in youth and middle age. In 1870, when 32 years old, Weston walked 100 miles in 282 hours.—Buffalo Times.

No Cause for Alarm

The minister was visiting the MacDonalds and was asked to stay to dinner. The party sat down, and before beginning his meal the minister bowed his head over his plate to say grace.

Master Eric, seeing this remarked: "It's all right, parson; the meat's quite fresh."

Says It Made A New Person Of Her

"Since I have been taking Tanlac I not only feel better in every way, but I am gaining weight right along," declared Mrs. Mary Gillette, 444 Third Ave., Calgary, Alberta.

"For two or three years I suffered from a bad case of indigestion and a terribly nervous, run-down condition. I fell off from a hundred and twenty pounds to only a hundred and five, and my nerves were so shattered I often felt like I would go to pieces entirely. I didn't have energy enough hardly to do my housework. I had scarcely any appetite, even the little I ate would not digest properly and I was bothered all the time with gas on my stomach.

"But Tanlac has already made a wonderful improvement in my condition, and I have only taken three bottles so far. I have a splendid appetite, never suffer any more indigestion and that tired, exhausted feeling I used to have is all gone. My nerves have calmed down till I feel almost like a new person and am simply stronger and better in every way. Tanlac is a grand medicine and I cannot recommend it too highly."

Tanlac is sold by all good druggists.

The Artist and the Dog

Medico Was Somewhat Peeved, But Staged a Comeback

An artist possessed a dog to which he was much attached. One day his pet contracted an affection of the throat, whereupon the artist sent for a specialist, a famous doctor, who, when he found he had been called to treat a dog, was far from pleased. He examined the animal's throat, however, and after pocketing a substantial fee, departed.

A day or two later the specialist sent hurriedly for the artist, who dropped his work and rushed over to the famous doctor's office. On his arrival the eminent physician said, gravely: "How do you do, sir? I wanted to see you about having my front door painted."—London Mail.

SKIM-MILK IN COOKING

(By Helen G. Campbell)

Skim-milk can be substituted for whole milk in almost any recipe As it is lacking in fat it combines particularly well with cheese, cocoa, chocolate and other foods which are rich in fat. If cooked with cereal, or used in bread-making and cake-making, it adds flavor. It can be used to good advantage in soups, sauces, chowders, puddings, etc., and, if desired, the lack of fat can be made up by adding a littlebutter. Occasionally children and adults with stomach disorders find it is difficult to digest fat in any form and, in this case, skim-milk is particularly valuable, as it supplies all the other necessary nutrients in a form that is easily used and easily digested.

Buttermilk, or as it is sometimes called, fermented milk, can be made very easily from sweet skimmed milk. Full directions are given in our circular "Why and How to Use Buttermilk".

Skim milk which has soured can be used to make cottage cheese, recipes for which will be found in our bulletins "Why and How to Use Cheese,,. Why and How to Use Milk," and "Why and How to Use Cottage Cheese" Thesee publications may be obtained free of charge upon request to the Publications Branch, Department of Agriculture, Ottawa.

The U.S. and Europe's Plight

The Reluctance of America to Hold Out a Helping Hand

We sit yawning on the bench and criticize the stroke of drowning nations. If our observers are accurate they must at each recurring conference report that continental Europe is drifting from bad to worse, with no relief in sight; the statesman of our lately associated nations almost at the end of their resources; civil war with anarchy and ruin to follow, audibly muttering around the corner. And we go on observing. As for holding out a helping hand, before it is too late, to our friends, our neighbors, our customers in trade, and our fellow-trustees of the garnered fruits of centuries of culture, that would be forming "entangling alliances," and is not to be thought of.—From the New York World.

French Mission Will Visit West

A French mission of three members is coming to Canada to open the new French Art Museum in Montreal. The mission subsequently will tour the Western Canada provinces, going as far as the Pacific coast, with the object of drawing closer the ties of Canada and France.

RUN-DOWN PEOPLE WEAK AND NERVOUS

Thousands in This Condition Can Easily Help Themselves

There are thousands of people who bear the pain and discomfort of minor ills in the hope that the indisposition is only temporary and will be outgrown in time. Often such illnesses are not serious enough to require the attention of a doctor, but will respond to intelligent home treatment if a reliable remedy is used. Women, busy with a multitude of household cares, or girls studying hard in school, easily fall a prey to that condition of bloodlessness known as anaemia. The trouble need not be serious if prompt measures are taken to check it in its early stages. Dr. Williams Pink Pills will restore the elements needed to bring the blood back to strength, and once the blood regains its healthy quality the entire body will soon show the benefit. Among the many who have found benefit through the use of Dr. Williams Pink Pills is Mrs. Albert W. Smith, Miscouche, P.E.I., who says:—"I was very much broken down in health, had pains in the region of my heart, and was so short of breath that if I went upstairs I would have to lie down as soon as I reached the top. Then a strange nervous twitching of the muscles took possesion of me, and every muscle in my body would apparently be twitching. I became very emaciated, and my family were much alarmed as to my condition. At this time I read an article in our home paper concerning Dr. Williams' Pink Pills and decided to give them a trial. The result was that in a short time I felt much improved, and under further use of the pills I felt like a new woman, had gained in weight and was in every way better. I would urge anyone afflicted as I was to give Dr. Williams' Pink Pills a trial."

You can get these pills through any medicine dealer or by mail at 50 cents a box, or six boxes for $2.50, from The Dr. Williams Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

Prince Not Wealthy

Financial Demands Absorb Greater Part of Yearly Income

Although probably nobody will maintain that the Prince of Wales should be classed as a poor man, yet he is by no means so affluently situated as many may imagine. It is true that his apparent income runs into about 200,000 a year, but the financial demands upon him are so heavy that this sum is very considerably shrunk before he can really call any part of it his own. Incidentally, it may be of interest to know that, although parliament granted certain sums for the Prince's eastern tour, he was considerably out of pocket as a result of his somewhat extensive trip.—Christian Science Monitor.

Keep Younger Longer

So far as we can size the situation up, the man of sixty or seventy years of age today is much younger than the man of the same years was a quarter of a century ago. When you look around it is remarkable how much of the work of the world, and much of it very important work, you will find being done by men who are rubbing up to, or have passed, the three-quarters of a century mark. And who will say that this change isn't to the good. What is the use coming to the carpet slipper age until you have to!—Christian Guardian.

Montreal Board Of Trade Perpetuates Maisonneuve

There is a striking monument in Montreal to Maisonneuve, founder of Canada's Metropolis. As in his lifetime, his thoughts were of the West, so does the memorial to him stand today. The sculptor has caught the spirit of the adventurous pioneer in the poise of the body and the head. Vision, courage, determination are plain to the observant eye and understanding mind.

Maisonneuve and the host of gallant men and noble women who laid the foundation of the Canada of today, long ago embarked upon the greatest and last quest. But their faith in the new land is as a living flame in the hearts of their successors. They see their country favored by geography and nature, a link between East and West, and extending almost 4,000 miles from ocean to ocean. They know that it is endowed with a richness of natural resources beyond the power of man to calculate. Above all they rejoice in its attainment to a place and a voice in the councils of the nations.

Retrospect is often pleasant. The true Canadian has little time for that. His heart and mind are on the present and the future. He knows that if his country is to come to full fruition as a nation it must be by still worthier efforts on the part of its people individually and collectively. No single province within the Dominion's far-flung boundaries can afford to disregard another. Each must be in sympathy with all the rest. The East share in the problems as well as in the joys and prosperity of the West. The West must have faith in the East. Bound by an invisible but unbreakable chain of mutual affection and goodwill they can, and will, put and keep Canada in the very vanguard of the world's great nations.

The development of the national spirit has been fostered in many an hour of peril, difficulty and struggle. It is beginning to bloom in beauty and strength. Its progress has been greatly advanced of late years by the action of important organizations in sending delegations to many sections of the country, so that their members may add to their first-hand knowledge of their homeland. Such an organization is the Montreal Board of Trade which will celebrate the one hundredth anniversary of its founding by beginning on September 1, a thirty days' tour of the Dominion. The members will not only see the country in all the glory of its most beautiful scenic settings, but the journey will be so arranged as to give them a new perspective of its wealth of soil, forests, mines and waters, and impressions of its industrial and commercial growth that would be impossible of visualizing in any other way.

From Montreal the party will travel westward via Toronto and the Great Lakes, thence from Port Arthur to Winnipeg, the greatest primary grain centre on the continent, across the vast prairie lands and through the Rockies to Vancouver and Victoria.

On the return journey they will make the 550-mile cruise up the north Pacific Coast from Vancouver to Prince Rupert, one one of the palatial Canadian National Railways steamers. This part of the journey will give the party a splendid idea of the development in the mining, lumbering and pulp and paper industries of British Columbia, with all their future possibilities. At Prince Rupert, Canada's most northerly Pacific port, hewn out of the solid rock of Kaien Island, there will be every opportunity to gain an insight into the enormity of the halibut and salmon industry of the province. From Prince Rupert eastward the party will be come acquainted with the Skeena River, with its historic and romantic traditions, its arresting grandeur, and its fame as one of the most prolific salmon streams in the world. They will see too, some of the Bulkley and Nechako River Valley country, one of the newest fields of settlement opened up in the west. Unknown to the vast majority of Canadians, the luxurious valleys that lay between the mountain ranges in this area, are suitable for mixed farming, dairying, fruit growing and cattle raising. In the years to come their productivity, now a matter of knowledge to comparatively few, will offer means of livelihood and competence to thousands of new people.

Shortly after leaving Prince George, the party will pass through Mount Robson Park. This is a veritable wonderland of mountain scenery, some 650 square miles in extent and set aside by the Government of British Columbia as a national playground and wild life sanctuary. Here will be obtained an excellent view of Mount Robson, with an altitude of 13,068 feet. It towers above the surrounding peaks, sublime, majestic, with green glistening glaciers and pure white snow adding to its beauty. Sometimes its own summit is lost amid the mists and clouds; quite often that summit is the centre of raging storms. But on Mount Robson they beat in vain.

Next Jasper Park, another mountain kingdom, but of greater extent, embracing 4,400 square miles of sublime mountain scenery, is entered. Here the party will spend a day at Jasper Lodge, the new Alpine chalet built on the shore of Lac Beauvert by Canadian National Railways, and the first of a series to be built throughout these Northern Canadian Rockies. At night they leave for Edmonton.

From Edmonton the homeward route will be through the rich farm lands of the northern part of the prairie provinces to Winnipeg following the trans-continental line of Canadian National Railways through the rich pulp forests and new farm lands of Northern Ontario to Cochrane, down through the famous Cobalt mining districts over the Temiskaming & Northern Ontario Railway to North Bay, thence to Ottawa and back to Montreal.

Safety Ships

New Device Overcomes Difficulty of Launching Lifeboats

Lifeboats arranged on deck on rails, so that they can be run to that part of the ship from which launching is possible, are features of the new steamship Mecklenburg, claimed to be the last word in safety ships, which has just made her maiden trip between Folkestone and Flushing.

In many cases of disaster at sea it has been found impossible to launch all of the boats on a ship because of the list. By this new device this difficulty is said to be overcome.

Better Trade Conditions

Canada continues to cut down her expenditures abroad, and according to the summary of Canadian trade for the month of July, 1922, at the same time is increasing her exports of domestic merchandise. Imports during July, 1922, were valued at $60,757,019, a decrease of nearly $2,000,000 as compared with the corresponding month a year ago. Exports of domestic merchandise during the month under review are valued at $70,430,235, as against $54,519,036 in the corresponding period of 1921.

Nights of Agony come in the train of asthma. The victim cannot lie down, and sleep is driven from his brain. What grateful relief is the immediate effect of Dr. J. D. Kellogg's Asthma Remedy. It banishes the frightful conditions, clears the passages, and enables the afflicted one to again sleep as soundly and restfully as a child. Insist on the genuine at your nearby druggist.

Why the Rush?

A remarkable increase in the volume of motor traffic in Canada is shown by returns compiled by the Department of Customs. According to their registrations 617,285 automobiles entered Canada to tour during 1921, as compared with 93,300 for the previous year.

Diversified Farming by the Ancients

"The strain on the soil will be an easy one provided only that you are not chary in saturating the parched earth with rich manure, or in scattering unsightly ashes upon the exhausted fields; thus, too, your land is refreshed by changing the crops and in the meantime there is not the unproductiveness of untilled land."—From Virgil's "Georgics" written about 37 B.C.

New Plan to Exterminate Rodents

Use Poison Gas to Clear French Fields of Mice

The valley of Ajole, on the Swiss-French frontier, has been invaded by thousands of mice, and the rodents are doing much damage. They are believed to have come from the trenches in Alsace. The village authorities have arranged drives by the people, offering half a cent for each dead animal. Poison gas is being used and the method is to inject this into the subterranean galleries built by the mice. It has proved most effective, 27,000 dead being the record for one day.

Internally and Externally it is Good.—The crowning property of Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil is that it can be used internally for many complaints as well as externally. For sore throat, croup, whooping cough, pains in the chest, colic and many kindred ailments it has qualities that are unsurpassed. A bottle of it costs little and there is no loss in always having it at hand.

Diagnosis in Lung Cases Far From Correct, Says French Doctor

Doctors often fail to diagnose correctly lung consumption as distinct from other respiratory diseases, according to Professor Erist, of Paris, in a recent address before the British Medical Association.

The speaker said that in 1916, at Compiegne, 192 men were sent into hospital with a diagnosis of tuberculosis. Observations showed the diagnosis to be justified in only 53 cases. The 139 other cases, he declared, were undoubtedly non-consumptive.

In 1918, Dr. Erst examined 342 men in Paris, said to have consumption. Of these only 37 had lung consumption, 22 were not definitely diagnosed, and 283 were certainly non-tubercular.

SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

LESSON FOR SEPTEMBER 17

THE MESSAGE OF MALACHI

The subject of today's lesson is broader than the text, especially the verses printed. The best way to teach this lesson is to give a survey of the entire book.

Malachi was perhaps contemporary with Nehemiah; probably sustained the same relation to Nehemiah that Haggai and Zechariah did to Zerubbabel. After the completion of the walls of Jerusalem Nehemiah seems to have been called back to the Persian court, but returned to Jerusalem after a few years. Though outwardly the lives of the people were correct, the prophet pointed out the sins of a corrupt priesthood, mixed marriages and a failure to pay tithes.

I. Israel's Base Ingratitude (1:1-5).

God approached them with the tender affirmation "I have loved you." It was the prophet's burden to declare this fact unto them (v. 1). So formal and worldly were the people that they failed to see God's hand upon them. The attitude of Israel to God is shown in the skeptical insinuation "Wherein has Thou loved us?" The prophet answers this by showing God's choice of Jacob and His passing by Esau; His destruction of Edom and saving Israel.

II. God's Severe Indictment (1.6-2:17).

1. Against the Priests (1:6-2, 9). They were guilty (1) of profanity (1:6). Their profanity was in despising the name of God. To fail to honor God is to be profane. To use His name in any unreal way is to be thus guilty. (2) Sacrilege (vv. 7, 8). Their sacrilegious act was in offering polluted bread and blemished sacrifices. To bring such offerings to an earthly ruler would be a gross insult. Gifts to be acceptable with God must be genuine; must cost something. We should give to God our best. There is no intellect too brilliant to offer in the Lord's service. The young should not esteem their lives wasted who offer them on the altar of missionary sacrifice. (3) Greed (1:10). They were not willing to open the doors of God's house without pay. Our service should be out of a heart of love for God, not for profit. This has a vital application to ministers and evangelists today. To enter christian service because of worldly gain is of this type. (4) Weariness (1:12, 13). Because of lack of love the routine of duty became irksome. (5) Not teaching the law to the people (2:1-9). Those set apart to teach God's law to the people have a great responsibility and God will most surely demand an accounting.

2. Against the People (2:10-17; 3:7-15). (1) For ungodly marriages (2:11, 12). God's purpose in the prohibition of mixed marriages was that He might raise up holy seed (v. 15). The marriage of the believer with the unbeliever today brings confusion into the fold of God and turns aside His purpose. (2) for divorce (2:13-16). Divorce was the source of great sorrow—even the tears of the wronged women covering the altar (v. 13). The offerings of a man who had thus treated his wife would be an abomination to God. The tears of wronged women today are going up to God and make even the prayers of some men an abomination to Him. (3) Public wrongs (3:5, 6). (a) Sorcery—magic. Those who practice such things should be regarded as public offenders (b) Adultery. This is a sin of wider extent than the parties concerned. (c) False swearing. (d) Oppression of the hireling, widow and fatherless. (e) Turned aside the stranger from his rights. (4) Blasphemy (3:13-15).

III. The Severe Judgments Which Shall Befall the Nation (3:1-5; 4:1-6).

1. By Whom Executed. This is done by the Lord. Judgment has been committed to the Son of God (Acts 17:30-31).

2. Time of Second Coming of Christ. John the Baptist was the forerunner of His first coming. Elijah shall be the forerunner of His second coming.

3. Result. For the righteous it will be a day of healing and salvation. To the wicked it will be a day of burning and destruction. A book of remembrance is now being kept. A day of retribution is coming.

Every workman in Japan wears on his cap an inscription stating his business and his employer's name.

Miller's Worm Powders prove their value. They do not cause any violent disturbances in the stomach, any pain or griping, but do their work quietly and painlessly, so that the destruction of the worms is imperceptible. Yet they are thorough, and from the first dose there is improvement in the condition of the sufferer and a cessation of manifestations of internal trouble.

Big Alberta Crop

Southern Alberta will have a 30,000,000 bushel wheat crop this year, according to D. C. McDonald, a farmer of long experience and grain broker, who considers this estimate conservative for the territory south of the Canadian Pacific main line to the international boundary. He estimates that the wheat crop of the entire province will top that of 1920 when 32,712,738 bushels were threshed.

Indigestion And Dyspepsia Overcome

Victims of stomach trouble, indigestion, dyspepsia and their allied complaints find Tanlac an ever-ready source of relief and comfort. Thousands of people have re-found the joys of health by its use after everything else they have tried had failed. Stanley Gibbons, 263 Chambers St., Winnipeg, Man., says:

"For the first time since I had the 'flu' I am feeling like my old self. For nearly three years I suffered so much with my stomach I dreaded to eat anything. I am never bothered with stomach trouble since taking Tanlac and I feel good to my finger tips."

Tanlac helps the stomach digest the food properly and eliminate waste. Soon the whole system is built up, the blood is purified and the entire body takes on new tone, vitality and energy. Get a bottle today and start on the road to health. For sale at all good druggists.

Handel's Appetite

Said to be Able to Eat a Meal That Would Satisfy Five Ordinary Appetites

Many great musical composers had exceptionally large appetites. When Handel dined alone at a restaurant he generally took the precaution of ordering a meal for three. Once, on asking, "Iss de tinner retty?" at a tavern where he was little known, he was told, "as soon as the company comes," and he astonished the waiter by seating himself with the remark, "Den pring up he tinner—I'm de company!"

Handel, always voracious, delighted in dining alone, and was known to consume a meal that would have satisfied five ordinary appetites.

CATARRHAL DEAFNESS

is greatly relieved by constitutional treatment. HALL'S CATARRH MEDICINE is a constitutional remedy. Catarrhal Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, Deafness is the result. Unless the inflammation can be reduced, your hearing may be destroyed forever. HALL'S CATARRH MEDICINE acts through the blood on the mucous surfaces of the system, thus reducing the inflammation and assisting Nature in restoring normal conditions.

Squaws Will Have Vote

Full-blooded Comanche and Kiowa Indian squaws will be found in the election booths of Southwestern Oklahoma this year for the first time. CHRISTMAS IN THE OLD COUNTRY

Special Arrangements

A visit to the old country is something that a great number of people are giving thought to at this season of the year, and many have already made plans to reach their friends in time for the Christmas and New Year season.

Canadian Pacific Steamships are deservedlypopular for this trip and to give extra special accommodation for those who are going overseas this season, the Canadian Pacific Railway has arranged for a special train to connect with the S. S. "Montealm" sailing from St John, Tuesday, December 12th. Through tinrist sleepers will be operated from Edmonton at 10. 00 pm Thursday December 7th and from Calgary at 1. 35 a.m. Friday December 8th making connection with this special train leaving Winnipeg 9. 20 a.m. December 9th.

Special tourist sleepers from Calary and Edmonton via regular trains will also be operated in connection with the sailing from St. John of the S. S. "Montrose" on December 1st. S. S. "Victorian" December 7th. S. S. "Melita" December 9th, S. S. "Metagama" December 15th.

All these tourist sleepers run right to the ship's side no changes no inconvenience. They are the gang plank to the steamer.

FIRE PREVENTION— HIGHLY DESIREABLE

W. M. Sellar, Fire Commissioner Gives Reasons In Address to Rotary Club

Any person whose property is destroyed by fire that could have been prevented by the exercise of a ittle greateer care is guilty of criminal negligence of the rights of others, W. M. Seller, fire commissioner and deputy commissioner superintendent of insuanrce for Alberta, declared in an address to the Rotary Club at a noonday luncheon in Edmonton.

Seventy-five per cent of all fires which occurred in Canada last yearwere preventable, he went on to say, and the great majority of all conflagrations were directly or indirectly attributable to carelessness. The fire loss in this country was astounding. In Alberta, according to the dominion fire commisioner's report, fire losses totalled $2,875,000

Fire Prevention Good Business

If even fifty percent of this loss were elimated, a saving of nearly one and one half million dollars would be affected, and something like $1, 229,000, to follow up the argument would be saved in insurance premiums. Fire prevention, then, was a good business proposition, even if viewed in this light alone.

Some 39 homes in Alberta were destroyed by fire last year, and of this number, nearly all the conflagrations could be traced to such cause as derective grates and chimneys, hot ashes against wood etc.

A strong propaganda in support of intelligent prevention of fire is necessary, Mr. Seller pointed out. The schools were a most effective agency through which such work could do their share. The churches could do their share The press had much influenee along these lines. Business organizations, fire departments and fire insurance agents—all had a duty in helping fire prevention work.

Mr. Seller's talk was a most effective one, and was particularly appropriate, in view of the fact that this was "Fire Prevention Week" through the dominion.

Ford

An Ideal Realized

"I WILL build a motor car for the multitude. It shall be large enough for the family, but small enough for the unskilled individual to easily operate and care for—and it shall be light in weight that it may be economical in maintenance. It will be built of honest materials —by the best workmen that money can hire—after the simplest designs that modern engineering can devise. But shall be so low in price that the man of moderate means may own one—and enjoy with his family the blessings of happy hours spent in God's great open spaces."

Behind every great undertaking is a great ideal, born of great and sincere aspirations. At the time when the Ford Motor Company was organised, Henry Ford expressed his aspirations in this statement. The degree in which this ideal has been realized is measured in the world-wide popularity of the Ford Motor Car—the latest price reduction on which as just been put into effect—thus fulfilling Mr. Ford's ideal of building a car for the multitude.

TAKE CARE
EVERY WEEK

Fire prevention may be secured by care and cleanliness.

Fire prevention has been established to secure at least one annual clean-up of grounds and premises and to educate the people in the value of constant watchfulness.

Piles of truck in the neighborhood of buildings, and accumulation of unused articles in buildings are causes of fires which orderliness and tidiness can destroy, and such orderliness should be manifested every week in the year, not spasmodically. Electric wiring also cause fires. We are to prone to accept electricity as a casual thing. We have become so accustomed to the use of it that we neglect its dangers Periodical inspection of house wiring would aid in preventing fires and save a considerablt total of the usual annual loss.

It is a good thing to have a fire prevention week, but the citizens should not leave until that week the care and cleanliness that will reduee fire loss. Every week should be a fire prevention week. — Calgary Herald.

NEAR EAST NEWS
UNTRUSTWORTHY

Last week The Financial Post, in a front pagt article pointing out that Canada was imperialistic, but refused to be stampeded into a foreign war, said that the real trouble in the Near East were primarily due to the efforts to aid a powerful group of men, some of whom were not even of British birth, to extend their political and financia. influence The evidence of all this was as clear as daylight to those who had been following on the spot the European developments during the last ten or twelve years and continued: —"

"And observers of this situation should not overlook the fact that much of the news furnished to Canadians readers is unreliable and shows the sinister influence of men who care nothing for the Empir.

Since then, the Editor and Publisher, a New York business weekly for daily newspaper interests, publishes an article on this subject by Dr. W. T. Ellis, who is probably the best informed of all American writers on Near East problems, which fully confirms the views expressed by us last week. He goes further and foreshadows just what is happening in Canada this week when he tells editors they will need all their traditional qualities of hard-headedness otherwise "nervous and sentimental folk will soon be clamoring for Government action along the line of their predispositions." He continues: "Cross currents of rumor and propaganda so disort the actual news that the average reader is more likely to be guided by his prejudices and sympathies than by the facts of the case, which are as closely veiled as the Moslem Pasha's wife. Quick and subtle agencies are at work to pervet the public vision into seeing only one side and getting only partial facts. No sensible editor can overlook the fact that there are several groups of propagandists diligently operating to color the news from Asia Minor according to their own interests Theyhave been at it ever since the armistice and they are skilled and prompt and efficient. It is the hard task of editor and readerto distinguish between what is propaganda and what is straight news. Based on experience with Athens since the war, this news of the massacre of 120,000 Christians in Smyrna should be accepted with reservations for the Greek capital is notorious for its close and rather reckless censorship. It suppresses and colors news according to the interests of the Government.

"Enough has been written to emphasize the point that all news from the Near East is subject to corrobation. Judgment should be reserved on all points. The public mind should come to final conclusions only after it has tested the reliability of its information. In this respect, America is better off than other countries, for our Government rarely lets policy affect the news it imparts to the press."

According to information from Ottawa, the news sent to this country was affected by the prejudices of certain members of the British Government, and based on that news and without full information the Dominion Governmen is, we think, unjustly criticised for refusing to be stampeded.

Our Greatest Asset

The greatest asset of any country is not its accumulated gold, nor its areas of agricultural lands; nor vast mineral wealth nor great manufacturing industries; neither is the greatest of all assets to be found in military or naval power, nor even in great universities of learning and strong, influential churches.

The greatest asset of a home is not the dwelling place no matter how fine it may be; it is not a comfortable Bank account which provides a guarantee against want and assures comfort in declining years.

No, the greatest asset of a home, and of the nation which is only as strong as the homes of which it is composed, are the children. Take away the children and the home soon disappears and the nation dies.

Few, if any, people will deny the truth of these statements if faced with the necessity of making answer to them, but how many thousands and millions by their daily actions practically deny their belief in these truths?

The world regards war with horror and deplores the loss of young men in the best years of their life. The taking of life is accepted by the law as the greatest of criminal offences. Yet in this so-called Christian era, and boasted twentieth century civilization, conditions are calmly accepted, even legalized, which in their effect on the race are more deplorable than war, and worse than murder, which only kills the physical body, while the conditions referred to destroy the intellect, ruin the body, and kill the soul of man.

These thoughts are engendered by reading the report of the latest United States census figures which reveal the astounding and alarming fact that approximately 1,000,000 children between the ages of ten and fifteen years, out of a total of twelve million children of those ages, are engaged in work. This is child labor with a vengeance in one of the world's most highly civilized and prosperous countries, and a country which has long boasted of its great national public school system.

What does it mean to the future of the United States, and of the world to have one out of every twelve of its children between the ages of ten and fifteen engaged in gainful occupations instead of being in school? One aroused United States paper, which admits that statistical figures are cold, uninteresting things, seeks to present the matter in another light. It says:

"One million under-priviliged children, destined to grow to be under-priviliged men and women, to recruit the ranks of the half-witted, the gunmen, the incompetent and the criminal.

"One million voters less capable of exercising the great function of the ballot because of poor equipment for reasoning power and decision.

"One million dwarfed intellects to be the easy prey of prejudice, class consciousness and hatreds. Under-sized minds that will fatten the purses of the crafty and the conscienceless.

"One million prospects for the I.W.W.'s, the Bolshevikl, and the other exponents of half-baked theories of government.

"One million people whose darkened minds will inevitably pull down the standard of art, music, drama, and life in all its ramifications.

"One million little folk, at heart innocent of all these and other dire portents for their country, with a real and just grievance against the one hundred million who permit this immeasurable folly of child labor to continue."

And this paper might have added: "One million prospective fathers and mothers of the next generation weakened, not alone in mind, but in body for the discharge of their great God-given duties and responsibilities."

Fortunately, conditions in Canada are vastly better and in these Western Provinces compulsory school attendance laws, rigidly enforced, operate to largely remove this child labor menace. Nevertheless, cases are by no means lacking where parents strive on one pretext or another to keep their children from school to do work about the farm or home. These short-sighted parents seem to think the immediate and rather puny labor of their children is or greater value than their permanent equipment for life's work and future citizenship.

Recently, in one of these Western Canadian Provinces the school attendance age was raised by one year, but only after a rather vigorous fight, while the proposal of a two-year advance in order to include all children up to 16 years was rejected.

Yet surely the whole intellectual and economic life of the country would be bettered and strengthened if children were given a maximum equipment for their life's work. Our greatest asset should be encouraged and developed; not restricted and retarded.

When Villages Prosper

Prosperity of the Town Has a Direct Bearing On Happiness of Farm Life

No country can really prosper unless its farmers are prosperous, said Mr. Levitan, in an address to farmers the other day, and no farmers will be happy and successful unless the small villages and towns in which the farmers' families have access are highly prosperous. "Remember," said Mr. Levitan, "that you have an interest in building up towns and villages. Stick to your home merchant. Patronize your village butcher. Get friendly with your town banker—he's always glad to help and advise. Buy your furniture, your groceries, your implements in your nearest town. Every cent you spend in town remains in town. The value of your land, the ease with which you secure help, the happiness of your family, the likelihood of the boys staying on the farm—these all depend not on the farm so much as the nearby villages. By increasing the prosperity of the village, you make your farm more valuable and your life more pleasant."—St. Mary's Journal.

They are the best medicine I know of for little ones and I would not be without them." The Tablets are sold by medicine dealers or by mail at 25 cents a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

Player Piano Not Modern Invention

Specimen Discovered Which Was Made in the Sixteenth Century

The player piano is not a modern invention after all. A correspondent of the London Daily Mail has discovered the earliest known specimen of a mechanical piano among the musical instruments in a museum in Vienna. It was made in the sixteenth century by Samuel Belderman, of Augsberg. It consists of a long, narrow box fitted with a keyboard similar to those of the old claviers, and it plays four quaint little melodies—very likely popular airs of the day.

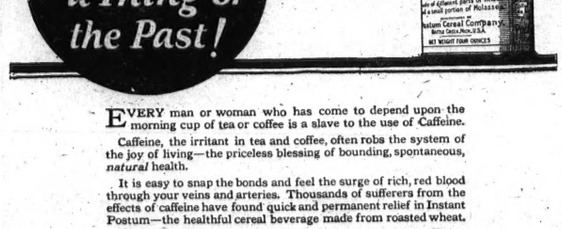

Alberta Normal Schools

The largest enrolment of normal school students on record in this province is on the books of the three teacher-training schools. The figures from the Edmonton, Camrose and Calgary normals total 925, as against 490 at the same time last year. The total, with the university classes, is expected to reach the thousand mark, as compared with last year's grand total of 525. All the schools are sharing in the increase.

Money Thrown Away!

Specialist charged $13½ a week. $1 worth of Zam-Buk Saved Her Leg.

"I had only one week of the 'special' course of bad leg treatment supplied in my own city, and it cost me $13½ in coarse ointments. It was simply money thrown away," writes Mrs. James Elsworth, 903, Selkirk Ave., Winnipeg.

"The ulcers first appeared on my left ankle, and they spread from the top of my foot up to the knee. Laid up in bed helpless with pain, I was treated by five different doctors. I persevered with their lotions and ointments until I felt positive there could be no cure.

"Then one day I was brought a sample of Zam-buk. Even this small quantity was decidedly soothing, and it encouraged me to get a supply from the druggist. Perseverance with Zam-buk proved wonderfully and thoroughly effective. The irritation and the pain were speedily subdued; the ulcers were thoroughly cleansed of poisonous matter and the leg permanently healed."

Zam-buk, the magic herbal balm, is equally good for eczema, ringworm, poisoned wounds, pimples, boils, abscesses, piles, cuts, burns, scalds and all skin injuries. 50c. all dealers.

"Why, yes, madam, I think so," replied the agent.

"Well, then, where is the depreciation? I am told that is one of the most important things to know about when you are getting a car."—Youth's Companion.

Origin of "Bulldogs"

Bulldogs were originally employed by butchers to catch and hold bulls for slaughter, hence the name bulldogs. They can, with most wonderful ease, catch a great bull by the nose and either hold him perfectly still or throw him on his side at the orders of his master. Bulldogs never allow even their masters to take liberties with them.

The Orient in London

Offices of Indian High Commissioner Have Been Transformed

Oriental splendor and English simplicity of design have transformed the offices of the High Commissioner for India into one of the wonders of London.

For the past 18 months skilled English workmen, with some of the choicest woods of India at their service, have been busy overhauling the interior of the two houses occupied by the Commissioner and his staff in Grosvenor Gardens, S.W.

The front doors are of solid Padouk, a wood resembling mahogany in appearance, and decorated with elephants' heads of beaten brass. Padouk has also been used extensively for panelling the walls of the entrance halls and the library.

The floors throughout are inlaid with blocks of Himalayan walnut, and the whole of the staircases have panels of Indian laurel wood.

In the "showrooms" upstairs are specimens of the finest products of India. Lacquer work, carved ivory, brass work, enamelled trinkets and gaily decorated fabrics are some of the attractions.

There are jointed toys, of crude colors, made by the natives—elephants which flap their ears, and a villainous looking tiger with red stripes.

France Needs Wheat

This Year's Crop is Insufficient for Annual Requirements

France's wheat crop for 1922 is more than one-fourth short of last year's production and nearly one-third under the customary annual requirements, according to statistics issued by the Ministry of Agriculture. The rye crop is also insufficient, but oats and barley are more abundant than last year.

The wheat yield is estimated at 64,000,000 quintals, as compared with 88,000,000 last year and the country's normal requirements of 84,000,000. This is due to a reduction of 600,000 acres in the area planted, the small yield per acre and bad weather.

Preliminary purchases abroad already amount to 7,000,000 quintals. These were bought in Canada and the United States at less than the prices prevailing in Paris. For the last month, France has been living on her old reserves because of the late harvest, so actually there is only eleven months to cover. It is estimated, therefore, that the shortage would have been only 24,000,000 quintals and as 7,000,000 were bought abroad, there remains needed 17,000,000 quintals.

But no difficulty is expressed as the wheat exporting countries such as Canada are believed to have a surplus of 50,000,000 quintals above the needs of Europe, where the average shortage is 16 per cent.

Serving One's Fellow Men

New York Lawyer Building Apartment Houses for Moderate Rental

It is easy to hear people say that there is nothing very bright in the world's skies. But the hopeful watcher will find some bows of promise—real rainbows, not moonbeams. Months ago Samuel Untermeyer, the distinguished New York lawyer, declared that he would work for the construction of five-story modern tenements to house 45,000 families at a rental of $8 or $9 a room. To New Yorkers familiar with building costs, this seemed absurd. But the other day ground was broken for fifty such apartment houses, planned to house 2,000 families, and it is predicted that the rental Mr. Untermeyer proposed will not be exceeded.

The bow of promise is not these new houses, but the fact that is demonstrated that the need of the community enlists ability of the highest order with the object, not of becoming wealthy, but of serving one's times and one's fellow men.—From the Milwaukee Journals).

India Trip Changed Prince of Wales

London Report Says Tour Transformed Him Into "Early Middle Age"

What has the Indian tour done to the Prince of Wales?

Has it destroyed his youth?

These are the questions that all London now asks. Everyone now sees the change in the Prince since his return from his adventurous tour, and the general inquiry is whether it was worth while, after all.

From a fresh-colored, smiling eager boy the Prince has turned into a man of early middle age. All of the old light-heartedness seems to have deserted him and, wherever he appears, he looks weighed down by care.

And there is a curious apprehensive watchful glance in his eye that none of his friends like. Talking to a friend, his glance is always ahead. It is not fear, but a kind of sub-conscious watchfulness. He seems like a man never released from an unending strain.

—Rest—perhaps a happy marriage—may bring back the old ease and gaiety. But at present the young Prince looks like a man who has survived a terrible ordeal.

Replenishing Forests

Benedictine Monks Plant Tree For Each One Cut

Benedictine monks for 910 years have been cultivating one of the world's finest forests. It surrounds an ancient hermitage, about fifty miles southeast of Florence, Italy. A report in an American forestry magazine says that this forest is as fine as it was nearly 1,000 years ago, though lumber has been taken out of it in great quantities. The monks plant new trees as fast as they cut down old ones. Our forests are rapidly disappearing. Unless we want a treeless America we, too, will have to plant a tree for each one logged. Forest destruction is our greatest waste.—Aurora Beacon-News.

Heat of Giant Suns

The astronomers at Mount Wilson have been conducting some interesting experiments to determine the heat of such giant suns as Betelgeuse, Capella and Alderbaran. They have decided that it is approximately 10,000 degrees Centigrade, or 18,000 degrees Fahrenheit. Coal strikes would be nothing to worry about in that neighborhood.

Speeding The Typist

Considerable interest may be aroused in a typewriter recently invented which provides twenty-two keys not found on the standard machines. These keys print, with appropriate spacing, entire words, such as "we," "are," "was," "and," "the," etc., the claim being made that by the use of these improvements the typist can make remarkably increased speed. An interesting feature of the inventor's claims is the calculation that these twenty-two mono-syllables constitute 31.5 per cent. of the language in ordinary daily use.—Christian Science Monitor.

Grain Growers Ask For Abrogation Of Coastal Regulations

Winnipeg.—Immediate abrogation of the coasting laws is urged by the Saskatchewan Grain Growers' Association as a result of the increased rate of eight cents with shippers are demanding on wheat from Fort William to Georgian Bay ports.

A. J. MacPhail, Central Secretary of the Association, speaking for the executive at a meeting in Winnipeg, stated that the following message had been wired to Hon. J. A. Robb, Minister of Trade and Commerce:

"Under today's date, Winnipeg papers report shippers demanding eight cents per bushel on wheat, Fort William to Georgian Bay ports, as compared with 2½ cents a year ago. Quotations today, Fort William to Buffalo, five cents. This is an intolerable situation, and we believe fully justifies immediate abrogation of the coasting laws."

At the present time American vessels are not allowed to carry grain between Canadian ports, but if the coastal regulations were suspended they would have the privilege, thus permitting of competition for Canadian shipping interests.

Fort William.—The blockade of the lower lake ports with grain created a situation here which is unique for this time of the year. This port has been filled, which rendered it necessary for grain to be loaded on cars here and sent all rail to Montreal instead of being shipped by water either direct to Montreal or through Georgian Bay ports. The Canadian National Railways have contracted for the shipment of 200,000 bushels of wheat all rail, which is now being loaded.

REFUGEES FROM FIRE ZONE TELL OF MANY MIRACULOUS ESCAPES

North Bay, Ont.—One trainload of refugees arrived here from the fire swept areas of North Cobalt and Haileybury composed of 336 men, women and children. They presented a pathetic figure as they dragged themselves from the train and to the waiting automobiles. Most of them even the comparatively small children, had been up all night, some cluttered in the few remaining houses at Haileybury, others wandering around, a number on board the rescue train, and one old lady passed the night out on Burnt Island, in the middle of Lake Temiskaming.

A particularly interesting interview was that given by Mr. Justice J. F. Orde, of Toronto, who was conducting non-jury assizes at Haileybury when the fire burst upon the town.

"The smoke was very dense even on Tuesday," said Justice Orde. "However, the residents did not appear to think there was cause for danger, and hearings proceeded without interruption. Bush fires were burning in the vicinity, and on Wednesday the situation looked even more disconcerting. However, we continued until after 2 o'clock in the afternoon, when a man entered the court room and whispered to Sheriff Calbeck that the fire had crossed the railway tracks. The court was closed as we felt the witnesses should have an opportunity to look after their families if they should be in danger. We went to the hotel, packed our bags and started. Even then we were told there was no danger. A terrific wind was blowing, the smoke became dense and breathing so difficult that we hurried to the shore where hundreds of men and women had sought refuge with all sorts of belongings, with their sick and physically unfit.

"The smoke became more and more uncomfortable, so that we began to wonder how long a person could survive suffocation. We put our handkerchiefs in the water and breathed through them. I hesitate to say what might have happened had the wind at this moment not veered. The smoke began to lift, and the suffering subsided. One great trouble was keeping our clothing from catching fire from the embers before the wind changed. After this the party was able to proceed to the home of Judge Hayward, junior judge of the district."

"The hospital at New Liskeard was not injured," said A. H. Wilson, of Montreal. "I was through the fire and back over the district today. Nearly all the houses on the west side of the track around the hospital were burned, but the hospital was not even scorched."

Moose Jaw Member Unseated

Election Declared Void on Conviction of Corrupt Practices

Moose Jaw.—R. M. Johnson, member of the Federal House of Commons for Moose Jaw, loses his seat according to a judgment given at Moose Jaw by Mr. Justice Embury and Mr. Justice Mackenzie following the hearing recently of a petition to unseat him.

The judgment declares the election to be void and disqualified Mr. Johnson.

The specific charges preferred against Mr. Johnson were first, that a false return was made in alleging that certain expenses were paid under authority of an official agent when, as a matter of fact, they were not; second, failure to show as election expenses two certain payments of expenses, properly to be classified as election expenses, made by the responsible person through the official agent.

Will Ask Preference For Dominion Fruits

Delegation of Growers From Australia Going to England

London.—A Reuter dispatch from Sydney, Australia, says it is understood a delegation of fruit growers, accompanied possibly by Premier Lawson, of the State of Victoria, will proceed to England about the end of this month to plead for a preference in the British market for dried and canned fruits from the Dominions.

Sir Henry Thornton Appointed New Head Of Canadian National Road

Ottawa.—Major-Gen. Sir Henry Worth Thornton, K.B., general manager of the Great Eastern Railway of England, is the new head of the Canadian National Railways. An order-in-council appointing him and other members of the board, and formally consolidating the Canadian Northern and Grand Trunk lines into the Canadian National Railway System, passed the Cabinet Council and was approved by the acting Governor-General.

Sir Henry was in Ottawa when final arrangements for his appointment were made. He will return almost at once to England to settle up his affairs there, returning to Canada to take over the direction of the National System within about a month.

In introducing Sir Henry to the newspapermen, Premier King pointed out that the act provided that members of the board must not be shareholders in, or connected with companies in any way dealing with the railways in question or selling them supplies. This had been observed, said the Prime Minister, both in regard to the executive board and also in regard to the other members of the board. The Prime Minister also stressed the fact that Sir Henry Thornton would be the man responsible for the administration of the railways. They would be operated without any interference from the Government and must be kept outside of politics altogether.

A contract was signed extending over three years, under which he is to be paid $50,000 per annum. Clauses in the contract, it was stated, give protection to both the Government and the new president and general manager of the railways in the event of either side wishing to terminate the agreement before the end of three years.

The resignations of the existing board of directors of the Grand Trunk System were accepted by the Government and the new board was appointed to administer the joint system. The board consists of the following, in addition to Sir Henry, who is president of the system and chairman of the board of management:

John H. Sinclair, K.C., of New Glasgow, N.S., former member of parliament for Antigonish.

Richard P. Gough, of the firm of Sellers-Gough, Toronto and Montreal.

James Stewart, of Winnipeg, former chairman of the Canada Wheat Board, and now president of the Maple Leaf Milling Company.

Ernest R. Decarry, ex-president of the Montreal civic committee, Montreal.

Frederick G. Dawson, wholesale merchant of Prince Rupert, B.C.

Tom Moore, president of the Canadian Trades and Labor Congress, Ottawa, representing labor.

Graham A. Bell, deputy minister of railways.

Gerald G. Ruel, general managing counsel.

SITUATION IN INDIA IS BECOMING SERIOUS

AUTHORITIES ANXIOUS OVER SPREAD OF ANTI-BRITISH PROPAGANDA

London.—The Daily News of Allahabad, India, according to a Reuter dispatch, states that the daily reports from the Punjab show that the Akali agitation is rapidly developing into a formidable revolutionary movement. The gravity of the situation was recently increased by secretive broadcast propaganda throughout India, including the India regiments.

Although heretofore no call has openly been made on the Sikh soldiers, a most undesirable impression has been made on them and this is the cause of much anxiety to the authorities.

The implacable attitude of the Indian Moslems, led on by Hindu extremists and a venomous Anti-British press, is adding to the seriousness of the situation.

The Allahabad Daily News says it understands that the All-India Central Khalifat Committee is inviting the Governments of Angora, Constantinople, Irak, Egypt, Persia and Afghanistan and other Moslem countries to send delegates to a Khalifat conference at Gaya, Bengal, in December.

SHOULD DOMINIONS HAVE DIRECT NEGOTIATION

QUESTION RAISED IN REFERENCE TO TREATING WITH FOREIGN NATIONS

London.—Should Canada and the other Dominions treat directly with foreign nations? This question is directly raised by Sir John J. Almond, who represented New Zealand at the Washington conference, and Sir Joseph Cook, Australian delegate to Geneva.

New Zealand strongly favors the system under which her representative is but one of "a single undivided unity, without right of vote or expression, save through the mouthpiece of all empire delegations."

Sir Joseph Cook emphasizes the useful individual work of Dominion delegations at Geneva and elsewhere. He says that it does not conflict with imperial unity in times of real crisis.

The Times says "the empire attends these conferences as a mighty alliance, bound by ties of kinship and sentiment, rather than as a ruling power with a following of dependencies. It is the symptom of a new epoch in imperial history."

End of Navigation at Dawson

Thousands of Wild Caribou on Annual Migration

Dawson City.—Tens of thousands of wild caribou are now swarming over the hills through the suburbs of Dawson for a radius of 50 miles. The great herd, which annually treks through this district, is now moving northward. Large herds swimming the Yukon have interfered with the passage of steamers in the river. The herd is so vast that the hunting of men, women and children, who have provided nearly every home with deer meat for the winter, has made no noticeable effect upon it.

Navigation in the Yukon is drawing to a close. The last steamers from St. Michael and Lower River points left for Dawson on Saturday. These steamers are the Seattle and the Alaska.

Klondikers who are planning to spend the winter "outside" will all have left this week-end and sail from Skagway on October 15 on the Princess Alice.

Recent heavy rains have maintained high water right up to the present in the Yukon and its tributaries. There is no ice in these rivers yet.

Berlin Thieves Strip Billboards

Increased Value of Waste Paper Makes Business Profitable

Berlin.—Billboard strippers constitute a new type of thief on Berlin's police blotter. Due to the increased value of waste paper, the plundering of street advertisements has set in.

The thieves work at night, and, so far, have confined their activities mainly to the round poster pillars which dot the city's thoroughfares, adorned with vari-colored bills advertising theatres, restaurants, dance halls, etc. One young man was found to have torn down 50 kilograms of old paper and stored it at home for future sale.

Killed When Car Overturned

Royal Insurance Superintendent Meets Death Near Portage la Prairie

Portage la Prairie, Man.—W. Watts, of Montreal, superintendent of agencies for the Royal Insurance Company, was killed near Poplar Point, when a motor car in which he was riding was forced from the road by another car and overturned in a six-foot ditch. Major G. K. Killam, of Winnipeg, driver of the car, and W. W. Watson, of Winnipeg, another passenger, were painfully injured.

New currency issued in Germany during the last week in September totalled 26,200,000,000 paper marks, it is announced.

BANDITS ADD MURDER TO LIST OF CRIMES

MAKE GETAWAY AFTER RUNNING GUN FIGHT WITH POLICE PATROL

Regina—Bandits operating in Southern Saskatchewan added murder and two robberies to the long list of crimes now placed to their credit, when Paul Mattoff, an employee of the Regina Wine and Spirits Company, was shot and instantly killed in the C.P.R. station at Bienfait.

While his companions cowered under the menace of threatening guns, $6,000 in cash was removed from the pockets of the dead man. The murderers fled eastward in a big Cadillac car. On the road between Hirsch and Frobisher they overtook and passed the police patrol car. While the cars passed, shots were rained on the bandits from rifles and revolvers carried by the police patrol, and the running gun fight was continued until the robbers were out of range.

Within a short time the same crew is believed to have held up and robbed a rum running truck at Roche Percee, on the international boundary. It is the same liquor, it is claimed, for which Mattoff was accepting payment when killed.

Disastrous Floods In Bengal

Thousands Are Reported Drowned In Affected Area

London.—A terrible loss of life has been taken by the recent flood in Bengal, says a Reuter cable from Calcutta.

It is impossible to estimate the extent of the disaster at present, but from the fact that an important junction point was for days inundated by five to ten feet of water while crowded with refugees from surrounding villages, which had been completely destroyed, it seems probable that in the whole affected area several thousand people have been drowned.

An outbreak of cholera is adding to the difficulties of the situation.

Bootleggers Using New Device

Land and Seaplanes Are Equipped With Trap Bottoms

Washington.—Land and seaplanes equipped with trap bottoms, so as to dispose quickly of their illegal cargoes of liquors in event of detection, are appearing in the bootleg trade between Montreal and New York and between ships at sea and Long Island, Prohibition Director Day of New York, informed Commissioner Hayes during a conference on prohibition enforcement in New York.

Director Day estimated that twenty-one bootleg planes were in operation.

PLAN FOR DIVISION OF CANADIAN CITIES INTO ZONES TO EXPEDITE SERVICE

Ottawa.—Plans for the division of the larger Canadian cities into postal areas, following the system in vogue in the larger European cities, were submitted at the closing sitting of the conference of Dominion postal officials.

E. J. Underwood, chief of the post office division, postal service branch, Ottawa, who submitted the scheme, argued that by the adoption of postal areas, delivery of mail would be expedited.

Postal officials from Calgary, Vancouver, Winnipeg, London and Hamilton did not think division of their cities into postal areas could be undertaken with advantage at the present time. In the western cities, particularly where development was rapid, it was argued, maps would quickly be out of date and have to be revised.

Bracken Has Big Majority

Deferred Election in Pas Constituency Results in Landslide

The Pas, Man.—The deferred election held in The Pas constituency was a complete landslide for Premier John Bracken, who polled an overwhelming plurality for election to the Manitoba Legislature over his three independent opponents, G. Fingar, P. T. Robertson and R. H. MacNeil.

With two or three scattered polls to hear from, the Premier had 406 votes, Fingar 81, Robertson 79 and MacNeil 25.

This election completed the deferred elections and by-elections created by the appointed of members-elect to the Government.

Th Legislature is composed as follows:

Farmers and Progressives, 28; Liberals, 9; Conservatives, 7; Labor, 6; Independents, 5. Total, 54.

Shipping Grain Via Vancouver

Considerable Portion of Alberta's Crop Being Handled Through Pacific Seaport

Fort William.—Reports from the west indicate that a considerable portion of the 1922 grain crop in the province of Alberta will be shipped out of the country for export to United Kingdom, European and Orient ports, via Vancouver. Last year 7,500,000 bushels of Alberta grain were shipped via the Pacific seaport and the probabilities are that this year that figure will be substantially exceeded. Grain being shipped now by way of Vancouver from Alberta is of exceptionally high grade, 95 per cent. of it grading No. 1 Hard and One, Two and Three Northern.

Bar Women From Pulpit

Will Not Be Permitted to Become Pastors of Methodist Churches

Toronto.—Once again the women have lost out in their efforts to gain admittance to the Methodist ministry. By a vote of 17 to 16, the discipline committee of the general conference decided against recommending their admission to the pulpits of the Methodist Church.

There were three women on the committee, and they put up a vigorous fight to allow the women to become pastors.

One of the arguments against women becoming ministers advanced before the committee was that it would tend to "rob the cradle."

Forest Fires Take Big Toll

Ottawa.—What Canada loses by forest fires is shown in a statement issued by the Canadian Forestry Association.

"Last year," says the statement, "Ontario lost 700,000 acres for forest resources by fire, and during the past summer 4,000 fires, mostly started by human agency, swept through the very limited stock of Canadian timber. Canada has lost more money from forest fires since Confederation than all other types of fires combined."

Destructive Forest Fires Cause Immense Loss In Northern Ontario

Toronto.—Haileybury, North Cobalt and several smaller places north of these points have been wiped out by forest fires, which have reached great proportions. Great destruction has been caused throughout the entire country, according to advices received from Cobalt.

It is understood that Heaslit and Elk Lake, two small mining towns, are among the places destroyed by the flames.

As far as can be learned by telegraph and telephone communication with points within reach of the fire zone, the fires sprang up in the bush within a radius of 60 miles, between Cobalt and Dane, which is 160 miles north of North Bay, and were joined by a strong wind at a point half way between these two towns. Within the territory threatened with extinction are the thriving towns of Cobalt, Haileybury, Englehardt, New Liskeard, Charlton, Uno Park, Earlton Junction and Elk Lake.

Haileybury has a population of about 4,000; New Liskeard has about 2,000; Englehardt about 1,500; and Elk Lake about 1,000. These populations, with those of the smaller districts affected, are estimated to comprise a total of 25,000 persons. It is estimated that there is a population of 75,000 north of North Bay.

Over 5,000 people have been rendered homeless. The loss of life is considerable and the property loss will obviously run into many millions of dollars.

Cobalt, Ont.—Thirty-three people are now known to be dead as a result of one of the most devastating fires in the history of the Northern Ontario district, which swept an area along the line of the Temiskaming and Northern Ontario Railway bounded by Englehart on the north, and a point just outside Cobalt on the south, a distance of approximately 38 miles.

In addition to the known dead, a great number of people in the fire-ravaged districts are reported missing, but it will be some days before an estimate can be made with any degree of accuracy. It is thought possible that 50 persons have met death either from burns, suffocation or drowning.

Heavy rains have resulted in the fires being extinguished practically all over the stricken country, and people are growing calmer and beginning to take stock of the tremendous damage. Conservative estimates place the property loss at between four and five millions of dollars.

McGill Honors Memory Of Colonel McCrae

Montreal.—An imposing ceremony took place at McGill University, when a memorial in the form of a stained glass window of three lights, to the memory of three of the teaching staff of the faculty of medicine who were killed in the Great War, was unveiled in the medical building. The window is dedicated to Lieut.-Col. John McCrae, Canadian author of the poem, "In Flander's Fields," to Lieut.-Col. R. P. Campbell and to Lieut.-Col. H. B. Yates. General Sir Arthur Currie, principal of McGill University, performed the unveiling, while the dedication address was given by Rev. Canon Almond, former chaplain of the Canadian corps.

THRACE HANDED OVER TO TURKEY

SUCCESSFUL ISSUE OF CONFERENCE IS LOOKED FOR

London.—The Allies have agreed to return Thrace to the Turkish army in 30 days.

News received that M. Franklin-Bouillon, the French envoy, and Hamid Bey, the Nationalist representative, has decided to return to Constantinople from Mudania immediately, strengthened the hope of the successful issue of the conference.

The delegates agreed to establish a definite line of demarcation between the British and Kemalist forces in the Chanak zone. The space between the opposing forces will be sufficient to place them out of rifle shot, thus lessening the danger of immediate conflict.

A message from Athens says that the Greek Government has ordered general mobilization of the classes of 1917 and 1918. It has also cancelled all leave.

Chinese Students Receive Ultimatum

Victoria School Board Gives Scholars Chance to Return

Victoria, B.C.—Following the conference between the school board and the Chinese on the deadlock that has kept Chinese children out of school for some weeks, the board issued an ultimatum.

Unless the striking Chinese pupils return to school at once, the board will close all schools for Chinese in the public school system, and opportunities for registration will not be afforded until January, after the Christmas vacation.

Will Honor Canadian Club

London.—The Prince of Wales has consented to be the guest of the Canadian Club of Great Britain at a luncheon to be given at Stratford Place on Nov. 10. The members are delighted at the honor conferred upon their young club, which in a short time has more than justified its existence.

Both Turks And Greeks Are Still In Defiant Mood

Constantinople.—The question of the evacuation of Thrace was the cause of the rupture in the Mudania conference. The attitude of the Turks and Greeks was very bellicose, threatening the success of the conference.

Ismet Pasha, in a fiery mood, upset the conference. He declared that the Turkish army must enter Thrace immediately, and his tone was determined and defiant.

General Harrington attempted to reason with him after the fashion which had proved so effective in dealing with minor preliminaries, but Ismet was adamant.

Ismet's position was completely at variance with the terms of the Allied note which is the basis of the negotiations, General Harrington explained, partly to the Turkish leader and partly to the Allied associates.

General Mombelli endorsed and supported the British General's statements, when suddenly a new bombshell was thrown into the gathering by General Charpy, the French representative, who announced abruptly that he had been instructed by his Government to support the Turkish demands.

General Charpy was followed by M. Franklin-Bouillon, the special French envoy, who similarly supported the Turkish position, explaining with some rhetorical effect that "France places a different interpretation on the terms of the Allied note than her confreres."

It was evident that the Allied camp was divided against itself, and that the situation had become untenable.

There was another interesting side to the conference. The Greek delegates also had spoken, and they brought no palm of peace. They threw down the gauntlet of defiance, declaring that the Greek army was ready and willing to fight for Thrace intent on saving the honor of Greece.

Sign Protocol to Save Austria

Geneva.—Ignaz Seipel, the Austrian Chancellor, and the representatives of Great Britain, France and Italy, signed the protocol making effective the plan of the League of Nations to save Austria.

Dr. Seipel had tears in his eyes as he signed the document, and the representatives of the other states were scarcely less affected.

Prefers Sea to Politics

Paris.—Admiral Coundouriotis has refused the Greek premiership according to a Havas despatch from Athens. When approached in regard to the matter the former minister of marine replied that he preferred to remain in command of the navy.

Grenfell Ship Lost

St. Johns, Nfld.—The Grenfell Mission steamer Strathcona, which has completed twenty years of service along the coasts of Labrador, sank recently a few miles off Cabot Island. The crew of six was saved.

Vessel Crew Escape

Prince Rupert, B.C.—The American fishing vessel Bartalone has been burned off Cape Muson, Alaska. Captain Harry Selig and the crew of the vessel rowed 14 miles to a loggers' camp after leaving their ship.
